"Have you, yourself, declared war against the Kaiser." This is an American slogan that is fast gaining in prominence and favor. Wharton Clay, executive secretary of the Military training camps association of the Central U. S. department, after conferences with many of the departments in Washington, tells of the seriousness of the situation. It was brot out, says Mr. Clay, that the spring offense which gained so small an amount of territory compared with the ultimate gain necessary to win the war, was the offensive that has been planned for almost two years and the results from the stand point of milltary importance were almost nothing

It is said that there were over 600,000 casualties in one month in the allied armies which might be compared in our minds to the casualty list of only 45,000 at the Battle of Gettysburg Many of these things do not creep into the newspapers. One enlightening

Lawlessness

There is much food for thought in the acts of lawlessness in different parts of the country. Are we as a people losing respect for the law? Are we losing sight of the fine ideals a half? Or is it the unrest so prevalent in other parts of the world com municating itself to us?

The most disquieting feature of these outbreaks of lawlessness is not that they should have occurred, but that they should occur just, at this time, when the country needs to be united in heart and soul as never be-

In times of peace and calm the good sense and ordiliness of the people would not have tolerated the causes which led up to the disturbances. With the minds of the people on other matters these causes have been permitted to grow and flourish.

Crawford Avalanche Grayling, Mich. Dear Sir:

Frankie Banner, of Chicago came to Frederic with his stable of boxers for a fishing trip and for the boys to rest up after they were on the go at an awful clip the last few months. The following boys, Banner has with him: Punchie McClalland a clever, 116 pounder; Whiting, Knock Cat Meyers 105 pounder, champion of Indiana and Micky Greeland, 128 pound champion light-weight of Chicago. All these boys challenge any boy at their weight in the world, bar none. Banner says he would like to have some of his boys fight at Grayling before any of the clubs there and the proceeds to go to the American Red cross. If the Red cross is interested Banner states the local representatives can get him at the Burke Hotel, Frederic Michigan.

The emperor never permitted any dancing at court which was not up to a high standard of excellence, and all who sought to dance were compelled to pass before the critical eye of the sharp-tongued old lady in her stiff sliken gown.

Whence she had come or who had been responsible for her appointment nobody knew. One thing was quite certain, that though at an age when rheumatism prevents agility yet she was an expert dancer.

Ten minutes later, being dismissed. ger of the secret being betrayed to I wandered back through the great stlent, echoing corridors of the ancient castle to my own room. A great human drama, greater than any ever placed or's diplomacy neither concerns your upon the stage, was now being enacted.

The emperor was plotting the down fall of the Turkish empire and the overthrow of Islam in Europe, Between the all-highest one and the realization of those plans for world power stood one-frail-little-Parisienne, theschel!

Next day we left the Schloss Langenberg, but before doing so we heard with regret that our charming little hostess had been suddenly taken ill during the night, and the kaiser, as a mark of favor, had ordered his doctor, Vollerthun, to remain behind to attend her. That Herr Reitschel was in great distress I saw from his face as he stood on the little platform at limenau. Back in Berlin, I wondered what was

n progress in that far-off schloss in Thuringia, but a week later the truth became vividly apparent when I read in the Staats-Anzeiger an announce ment that Frau Reltschel, the young wife of the famous Anton Reitschel of Constantinople, had been seized by a sudden and mysterious lliness and had developed insanity to such a hopeless degree that it had been necessary to confine her in the Rosenau private asylum at Coburg.

In a second I thought of the dancing mistress and the mental specialist from Augsburg.
Poor Madam Reitschel! She died early in 1913, a raving lunatic. Her devoted husband, having served the emperor's purpose, had been recalled to Berlin, where, bereft of the kuiser's favor, he predeceased her by about six months, broken-hearted. (Copyright, 1917, William LeQueux.)

HOW TO CONQUER THE CRAMP

Worst Effect is Panic, Which Causes the Swimmer to Lar All the Air Cated this Lungs

A cramp is merely a contraction of the muscles caused by the penetration of the cold. Obviously, it could not of itself cause drowning. Its effect, according to Popular Science Monthly, is to cause a papic which throws the swimmer off his guard, causing him to let the air out of his lungs and thus allow the air passages to become filted with water. The safeguard against the floating power of the body and a way to quickly fill the lungs to utmost capacity with air. The moment a cramp is felt, the swimmer should turn on his back and begin to guip the nir, making no effort to keep himself from sinking. As he sinks he slowly exhales under water through the mouth, with the lips puckered as for whistling. If it is a stom-ach cramp the knees will be drawn up against the abdomen, but the swim mer should force them out, pushing on them with both hands and using all his strength until they are fully extended. This will no doubt-cause great pain for a few seconds, but as soon as the legs are straightened out the camp will vanish, and the body, buoy ed up by the air in the lungs, will shoot in great guins and exhaling through puckered lips, the awimmer may float until he regains his strength or is picked up. In case of cramp in the leg or arm the same system of breathing is followed and the affected part is straightened out by sheer strength.

Various fruit juices may be prepared in the home and bottled for future use Practically any fruit may be used in the first recipe following.

Sterilized Fruit Juices.-The fruit juice may be pressed out of fruit by dled by the same directions as those for canning of fruit itself. If poured into miscellaneous bottles, it is suggested that the fruit juice be sterilized as follows:

over cotton stopper immediately. If the Tork fits well, no parafla need be used. If a poor cork, it may be necessary to dip the cork in melted solution of wax or paraffin. Fruit juices and apple cider when handled in this way will not "flatten in tuste" and will keep fresh for future use.

Grape Juice by Two Day Method .-For home use there are a large num-ber of varieties of grapes which will make a pleasant and healthful drink. matter will not settle No-matter what the kind of grape, strup will be cloudy.

however, only clean, sound fruit should be used and it should be well ripened, but not overripe. The grapes should first be crushed and pressed in an ordinary cider mill or by hand if no mill is available. Red Juice.-For red juice, the crushed grapes are heated to about 200 degrees Fahrenhelt before the juice is senarated from the pulp and then strained through a clean cloth or drip bag without pressure. Thereafter, the process is the same as for light-colored iuice.

Grape juice should be stored away in bottles or jars that are not too large, for after these have been opened the juice is likely to spoil. If properly made, however, the juice should keep indefinitely as long as it is kept in sealed bottles.

Sirup Made From Windfall Apples and Apple Cider.-Add five ounces of powdered calcium carbonate (obtained ut any drug store) to seven gallons of apple cider. Powdered calcium carbonate (carbonate of lime) or, to give means of a cider press, special truit it is common name, precipitated chalk, press, or other improvised presses; then is low-priced and harmless. STARTLING EXPOSURE OF INNER LIFE OF KAISER AND CROWN PRINCE AS TOLD BY COUNT ERNST VON HELTZENDORFF TO WILLIAM LEQUEUX

EDITORIAL NOTE. — William Le-Queux, who here chronicles for his friend, Count Ernst von Helisendorff, the Inter's revelations of the inner life of the imperial Gorman court, haslong been recognised throughout Enrope as the possessor of its innermost secrets.

The English "Who's Who" says of him: "He has intimate knowledge of the accret service of Continental countries and is considered by the government (of Great Britain) an authority on such matters." Another authority asys: "Few people have been more closely associated with or know, more, of the astounding inner machinery of Germany than he.

LeQueux probably has more sources of secret information at his command than any contemporary in civil life; and for the last six years the British Government has made valuable use of his vast store of secret information through a specially organised department with which LeQueux works as a voluntary assistant.

Count von Heltsendorft became an intimate of Lequeux several years prior to the outbreak of the war; he has been living in rettrement in France since. August, 1914, and it was there that Lequeux received from the crown prince's areanal adjustant permission to late personal adjutant permission to hake public these revelations of the inner lite of the Hohensollerns—that the democracies of the world might come to know the real, but heretofore bidden, personalities of the two domi-nant members of the autocracy they are vow arrayed against.

real age I never knew. Truly Frau Kleist, with her neat waist and thin, refined face, was a very striking figure at the Berlin court. The intricacles of the minuet and Lavotte, as well as those of the old-world-dances in which she delight ed, were taught by the old lady to Prince-Joachim-and-Princess Victoria Luise, both of whom always went in deadly fear of her caustic tongue and overbearing-manner.

The emperor never permitted any dancing at court which was not up to a high standard of excellence, and all to pass before the critical eye of the the next; while in the third I rode with charp-tongued old lady in her stiff Major von Scholl, one of the equer-

Whence she had come or who had been responsible for her appointment nobody knew. One thing was quite certain, that though at an age when usually rheumatism prevents agility yet she was an expert dancer.

The old woman lived in considerable style in a fine house close to the the Babelsherg, a power to be reckoned with by all who desired to enter the court circle.

Regarding her, many strange stories were affoat. One was that she was an ex-dancer, the mother of the fumous Mademoiselle "Clo-Clo". Durand, promiere danseuse of the Paris onera, and another was that she had been mistress of the ballet at the Imperial mperor Alexander. But so great a mystery were her antecedents that nobody knew anything for certain, save that, at the age of nearly seventy, she had access at any hour to the kaiser's private cabinet. I have often seen her whisper to his majesty strange secrets which she had picked up here and there-secrets that were often transferred to certain confidential quarters.

Those at court who secured the bethat their future path in life would be full of sunshine, but wee betide those upon whom she knit her brows in disapproval. Frau Kleist kept her pretty house and her big Mercedes car upon the secret money payments she received from those who "for value" hegged her favors. With many young officers the payment to Frau Kleist was to open the back door to the em-

We in the Neues Palais (New Palace) knew it. But surely it did not concern us, for all of us looked askance at those who strove so strenuously and engerly for "commands" to court functions, and really we were secretly glad if the parvenus of both sexes were well bled before they were permitted by amazing spectacles the logal Potsdam-Frau Erna to make their obeisance be-

man in the street. There one sees the worst-side of human nature without spiral, banked slightly, steadled himany leaven of the best or even nobler side. The salary-grabber, the military adventurer, the pinchbeck diplomat, the commercial parvenu, and the scientist, together with their jewel-bedecked womenfolk, elbow each other in order to secure the notice of the all-highest one, who, in that green-upholstered private room wherein I worked with him, often smiled at the unseemly bus while he culmly discriminated among men and women according to their merits.

It is in that calm discretion that the emperor excels, possessing almost uncanny foresight.

"I know! Frau Kleist has told me!" were the words his majesty used on many occasions when I had ventured perhaps to express doubt regarding some scandalous story or serious alle gation. Therefore I was confident that the seventy-year-old dancing mistress. whose past was a complete mystery was an important secret agent of the emperor's.

And what more likely? The kaiser as ruler of that complex empire would naturally seek to know the truth concerning those who sought his favor fore they were permitted to click their heels or wag their fans and bow the knee in his imperial presence. And he had, no doubt, with that innate cunning, appointed his creature to the position of court dancing mistress. Emperor's First View of an Airplane.

On October 17, 1908, I had returned with the emperor and his suite from Hamburg, where his majesty had been present at the launching of one of Herr Ballin's monster American liners. I was seated at the side table in his private room in the Berlin Schloss, taking down certain confidential instructions which he wished to be sent nt once by one of the imperial couriers to the commandant of Posen.

Suddenly Von Kahlberg, my colleague, entered with a message and handed it to his majesty. The kaiser at once grew excited and, turning to ne said:

A LETTER FROM THE CROWN PRINCE'S PERSONAL ADJUTANT TO WILLIAM LEQUEUX, POSSESSOR OF THE SECRETS OF EUROPE.

Veneux Nadon, par Moret-sur-Loing, Seine-et-Marne.

February 10th, 1917.

My dear Lequeux:

I have just finished reading the proofs of your articles describing my life as an official at the imperial court at Poisdam, and the two or three small errors you made I have duly corrected.

The gross scandals and wily intrigues which I have related to you were many of them known to yourself, for, as the intimate friend-of Luiss, the ex-crown princess of Saxony, you were, before the war, closely sascelated with many of those at court whose names appear in these articles.

The revelations which I have made, and which you have recorded here, are but a tithe of the discioners which I could make, and if the world desires more, I shall be pleased to furnish you with other and even more startling details, which you may also put into print.

THE MYSTERIES OF FRAU KLEIST

THE clever intrigues of Frau Kleist were unknown to any outside the court circle at Potsdam. She was indeed a queer "only less of a pers than his majesty," as Prince Bulow declared to me one day as we sat together in my room in the Berlin at once grow excited and, turning to

Tran Kleist was the court dancing mistress, whose fastidious judgment had to be satisfied by any young debutante or officer before they presumed to dance before royalty at the state

very striking figure at the Berlin it would be wanted for presentation to The intricacies of the minuet and Lavotte, as well as those of the old-world dances in which she delighted. Were taught by the old lady to Prince Joachim and Princess Victoria Luise, both of whom always went in deadly fear of her caustic tongue and overbearing manner. The emperor never permitted any dancing at court which was not up to a high standard of excellence, and all who sought to dance were compelled to pass before the critical eye of the sharp-tongued old lady in her stiff silken gown.

Whence she had come or who had been responsible for her appointment nobody knew. One thing was quite certain, that though at an age when usually rheumatism prevents agility yet she was an expert dancer.

The old woman lived in considerable style in a fine house close to the Glienicke bridge at Potsdam, beneath the Babelsberg, a power to be reckoned with by all who desired to enter the court circle Regarding her, many strange storie nn saw ada tadt saw and that she was an ex-dancer, the mother of the famous Mademoiselle "Clo-Clo" Durand, premiere danseuse of the Paris opera, and another was that she had been mistress of the ballet at the Imperial opera in Petrograd in the days of the Emperor Alexander, But s mystery were her antecedents that nobody knew anything for certain, save that, at the age of nearly seventy, she had access at any hour to the kaiser's private cabinet. I have often seen her whisner to his malesty strange secrets ferred to certain confidential quarters. Those at court who secured the benignant smiles of Frau Kleist knew that their future path in life would be full of sunshine, but we'e betide those upon whom she knit her brows in disapproval. Frau Kleist kept her pretty house and her big Mercedes car upon the secret money payments she re ceived from those who "for value" hegged her favors. With many young officers the payment to Frau Kleist was to open the back door to the emthere-secrets that were often transperor's favor. We in the Neues Palais (New Palace) knew it. But surely it did not cern us, for all of us looked askance at those who strove so strenuously and agerly for "commands" to court func tions, and really we were secretly glad swiftly, and then planing down with if the narvenus of both sexes were well bled before they were permitted by amazing spectacles the loyal Potsdam-Frau Erna to make their obeisance before royalty.

The palace world at every European court is a narrow little world of its seen what a great factor airplanes own, unknown and unsuspected by the man in the street. And what more likely? The kalser, as ruler of that complex empire, would naturally seek to know the truth concerning those who sought his favor be fore they were permitted to click their knee in his imperial presence. And he ning, appointed his creature to the position of court dancing mistress. Emperor's First View of an Airplane.

On October 17, 1908, I had returned with the emperor and his suite from Hamburg, where his majesty had been present at the launching of one of Herr Ballin's monster American liners, I was seated at the side table in his private room in the Berlin Schloss, toking down certain confidential in structions which he wished to be sent at once by one of the imperial couriers to the commandant of Posen. Suddenly Von Kahlberg, my col-

I appreciate your loyalty and acumen, Von Heltzendorff, but I have, fortunately, known this for some little time, and in strictest secrecy have taken certain measures to combat it. Remember that these words have never been uttered to you! Remember that! You re admirant and I am emperor. derstand! I fully appreciate and note our royal report, but it is not woman's sphere to enter our diplomacy, except is a secret agent of our fatherland. Let us say no more.'

Ten minutes later, being dismissed wandered back through the great atent, echoing corridors of the ancient castle to my own room. A great human drama, greater than any ever placed mon the stage, was now being enected.

The emperor was plotting the downfall of the Turkish empire and the overthrow of Islam in Europe. Between the all-highest one and the realization of those plans for world power stood one frail little Parisleune, the vivacious, well-meaning Madam Reittadas

Next day we left the Schloss Langen berg, but before doing so we heard with regret that our charming little had been suddenly taken ill during the night, and the kniser, as a mark of favor, had ordered his doctor, Vollerthun, to remain behind to attend her. That Herr Reitschel was in great distress I saw from his face as he stood on the little platform at Ilmenau.

Back in Berlin, I-wondered what was n progress in that far-off schloss in Thuringia, but a week later the truth ecame vividly apparent when I read in the Staats-Anzeiger an appounceent that Frau Reitschel, the young wife of the famous Anton Reitschel of Constantinople, had been seized by a sudden and mysterious illness and had leveloped insunity to such a hopeless degree that it had been necessary to confine her in the Rosenau private asyum at Coburg.

In a second I thought of the dancing mistress and the mental specialist rom Augsburg.

Poor Madam Reitschel! She died arly in 1913, a raving lunatic. Her levoted husband, having served the inperor's purpose, had been recalled to Berlin, where, hereft of the kniser's favor, he predeceased her by about six months, broken-hearted. (Copyright, 1917, William LeQueux.)

Making Full Time at Work Since Ten lac Overcame Troubles, He Says---Has Gained Twalve Pounds.

"I have actually gained twelve pounds on three bottles of Tanks and I now consider myself a well man for the first time in twenty years," said A. G. Strayer of 480 Kirby street west, Detroit, Mich., an expert wood worker in the Fisher Automobile Plant, a few days ago.

"I was a sufferer from stomach trouble and rheumatism all these years," he explained, "and had to be as careful about my diet as if I were feeding a baby. My head ached like it would burst and gas from undigested food swelled me up so I was in misery and could hardly button my clothes on me. My limbs would swell from rheumatism and would hurt so I felt like I couldn't stand it another minute. I tried all kinds of medicines and consulted specialists in different states, but nothing did me any good

"A friend in York, Pa., told me about it and I got a bottle and felt better almost from the first dose. I can now eat anything I want and it gives me no trouble. I sleep so sound I had to buy an alarm clock to wake me up in the morning. The rheumatism don't bother me now and I am making full time working every day at my trade. Worst Effect is Panic, Which Causes the Swimmer to Let All the Air Out of His Lungs.

A cramp is merely a contraction of the muscles caused by the penetration of the cold. Obviously, it could not of itself cause drowning. Its effect, a ording to Popular Science Monthly is to cause a panic which throws th wimmer off his guard, causing him to let the air out of his lungs and thus allow the air passages to become filled with water. The safeguard against such a panic is absolute confidence in the floating power of the body and a demonstrable knowledge of the proper way to quickly fill the lungs to utmost capacity_with_air.____

The moment a cramp is felt, the swimmer should turn on his back and begin to gulp the air, making no effort to keep himself from sinking. As he sinks he slowly exhales under water. through the mouth, with the line nuckered as for whistling. If it is a stowach cramp the knees will be drawn up ngainst the abdomen, but the swim mer should force them out, pushing on them, with both hands and using all his strength until they are fully extended. This will no doubt cause great pain for a few seconds, but as so the legs are straightened out the eramp will vanish, and the body, buoy ed up by the air in the lungs, will shoot up to the surface. There still inhaling in great gulps and exhaling through puckered lips, the swimmer may float until he regains his strength or is picked up.___

In case of cramp in the leg or arm the same system of breathing is followed and the affected part is straightened out by sheer strength.

Salad Dressing.
An Italian chef derides the American manner of preparing the dressing for lettuce, by which a goodly part of the oil and vinegar is left in the bottom of the dish. His method is to put the salad in the bowl and, turning the leaves with one hand, cover them slow-ly with oil with the other until every leaf glistens. He then seasons them with salt and pepper, adds a few drops of vinegar, gives a last stir and serves his saled at once.

However, there was a perceptible stiffening of re-Slavs, and further north they held their lines fairly well. On the Roumanian front the Russo-Roumanian army fought brayely and successfully, making considerable vances. Ats good work may go far to ward saving the rich grain fields of sonthern Russia from the enemy.

Meanwhile Kerensky and his colleagues are working fast to avert disaster. Their program, according to the official newspaper, is to restore the army's power by a clear definition of the limits of Russia's present liberty, the taking of the severest and most merciless measures for re-establishing military discipline, and the restoration of the shaken authority of Russia's most disinterested and self-sacrificing servants, her officers, Hundreds of German spies in Russian uniforms found mingling with the soldiers have been executed summarily, and the mu tinous troops are being punished as traitors. East Lansing, Mich.-No one ques tions the fact that today the world must have more wheat, and it is equally evident that to satisfy this want ing a small amount of seed per acre, should be given a trial only in a small way before planting. In careful experiments with these varieties and with the rates of seedings advertised, they have not been found to yield as good as average wheat varieties, nor do they have the hardingod to withstand Michigan winters. Prepare Wheat Land Early.

It requires from four to six weeks to put land in the best condition for wheat. Wheat needs a firm, wellworked seed bed carrying sufficient moisture for rapid germination. If prepared early and worked thoroughly, land can be put in such condition Barley or out stubble ground dries outckly, and should be plowed and fit ed as soon as possible. If not possible to plow immediately after harvest it should be disked and plowed at a later date. Disking as soon as oats are harvested will prevent the loss of such moisture and the ground can be plowed much more easily. Plow for wheat at an ordinary depth and follow with the roller to pack the furrow slice, and disk or harrow frequently, In many cases, beans have failed in Michigan because of the bean magget

Red wheat, in general, is much superior to white wheat for bread-making. Red Rock wheat, a pedigreed strain developed at the Michigan Agricultural college, is the best of these. It is the highest yielding and finest milling wheat obtainable for growing in Michigan. All of it that is available should be used for seed. But there are also many other excellent varieties, such as Egyptian, Shepherd's Perfection and Red Wave. The agricultural college, county agents, successful wheat growers, local millers and elevator men should be consulted and their opinion and aid solicited in securing the best strain. Newly advertised varieties, particularly—those-recommended as requir-

But, nevertheless, 17.6 per cent of the artillery battalion was kicked out of service and other units suffered in lesser degree. The Signal corps at Ypsilanti made the best record, with 9.2 per cent of its men discharged. The average for the entire state was 13.8 per cent, a net total of $20 men.
The Thirty-first infantry lost 293 men, the Thirty-second lost 270, the engineers 54, the medical department 35 and the cavalry squadron 45. This leaves 5,119 still in the service.

Nearly one half of the men rejected, who appeared for re-examination, were accepted and will remain with their companies, but a number of the men are taking advantage of their rejec-tion to avoid military service.

Since the men were ordered dis-charged, they cannot be compelled to undergo a re-examination and those who were in the service prior to June 5 have not registered and consequent ly are immune from call.

FINLAND.

The "Ireland of Russia" flung its final word of defiance at the Russian provisional government and promptly translated it into action. The Finnish landtdag passed a bill declaring Finland's absolute independence from Russia as a separate autónomous state. In taking this action the separatists openly admitted that they were taking advantage of Russia's plight. They argued that Russia, confronted as she with terrific difficulties at home and at the front, will not be able to try to repress Finland's dissaffection by force of arms. With disaster on the march in Galicia and the German big guns booming on the Riga-Dvinsk front, any military steps to enforce Russia's authority on Finland seems to be out of the question. On the other hand, to leave the Flunish secession unchallenged would be inviting the Ukraine and many other provinces to follow Finland's lead.

The Finnish landtdag, having by vote of 165 to 27, declared the neces sity of immediately voting the auton omy bill, adopted it forthwith in full by a vote of 136 to 55. The landtdag rejected by a vote of 104 to 86 an amendment by Deputy Culins proposing that the bill should be submitted for the approbation of the Russian pro visional government.

SAXON "SIX"

A BIG TOURING CAR FOR FIVE PEOPLE

25.9 Miles Per Gal. of Gas

234 stock model Saxon "Sixes" travel 70,200 miles July 18 and set grand average of 25.9 miles per gal. of gas

To give a national demonstration of the remarkable gasoline economy of Saxon "Six", 234 Saxon dealers joined in a 300 mile drive July 18.

A grand average of 25.9 miles per gallon of gasoline was registered for the 70,200 miles of travel.

Consider that this run took place in 234 different parts of the country, under 234 different sets of conditions, over 234 different kinds of roads.

Consider that these 234 cars were stock model Saxon "Sixes", not "tuned up" special cars, not cars with "doped" gasoline.

That proves that this 25.9 miles per gallon of gasoline is the ordinary, the average performance of 234 Saxon "Sixes" taken right out of stock.

And it proves as nothing else would prove, the gasoline economy your Saxon "Six" will give you. No other car in its class can match this record.

Furthermore, these 234 Saxon "Sixes" averaged 175 miles per quart of oil.

And not a single instance of mechanical trouble occurred throughout the entire 70,200 miles.

There is the proof that Saxon "Six" is your kind of a car. Price £ c. b. Detroit, $935.

MOBILIZING THE NATION'S BUY-AT-HOME PROMOTERS

lames Eaton Tower, Domestic magazines banished from their com-Science Expert, Analyzes Mail Order Advertising and the Magazine Move Against It.

At the very lowest estimate the retail trade of the United States amounts to $10,000,000,000 a year.

This trade is shared roughly by two groups of distributors. On the one hand we have the large department stores of the big cities of 100,000 orover and the big mail order houses, located in but two or three of the very largest cities.

On the other hand, we have the wholesalers and jobbers, the retail stores of the smaller cities and towns, and the general stores in the sparsely populated regions. With this group we must place the trade papers and house organs, representing the interests of manufacture ers and jobbers, and the great national magazines of general circulation, whose tributors of branded and advertisable products.

The annual retail business of this country is $10,000,000,000 a year.

But it is the country and small fown merchant rather than the city tetailer who suffers most from mail order competition. The New York-Plimes Analyst of March 3, 1913, estimated the number of country stores at 500,000, with a total business amounting to $2,500,000,000. It will therefore be seen that the mail order business, competing mostly with this class and amounting to $500,000,000 a year, amounts to 20 per-cent of the total rural trade of the country.

The fight between the retail merchant and the mail order man is historic. For years local merchants' astociations, boards of trade and similar odles have been striving to promote the "buy at home" idea.

But if the recent startling news which comes from New York means anything it means that these hundreds of thousands of "buy at home" boosters, scattered throughout the land, have won a new and powerful champion. whose co-operation means lead. ership, force and direction for the "buy it home" movement everywhere. The Butterick company of New York, with an output of 150,000,000 periodcals a year, has definitely allied itself with the local merchant as against the

The verdict as to whether for them his was a piece of "good business" or nerely a costly concession to senti-ment rests with the nution's retail

Without wishing to pose as a prophwithout wishing to pose as a propin-st, it is my personal belief that this step on the part of those magazines is so significant, so vital to the retail merchants of America, that they will nevitably fall in line behind these eaders of the host and accord them such substantial and sustained support as to prove their recent stand to have been not only a courageous innovation, but a piece of "good business."
